

The information race, and how little of it we see

Four internal events. Two recorded numbers.

The interval we can measure is a sum of intervals we cannot measure separately.